

SARON KEBEKABE

Saron Kebekabe is a dedicated student currently enrolled at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, where she is pursuing a major in Information Systems and a minor in Political Science. Her aspirations include venturing into a career in Health Informatics/Health IT.

Throughout her college journey, Saron actively contributes to the Ethiopian Student Association, holding the esteemed position of co-president. Collaborating with the school's Student Government Association (SGA) and various organizations, she is committed to providing essential resources, establishing a secure haven for shared values, and fostering meaningful connections among its members.

In addition to her academic and leadership roles, Saron is currently interning at McFarland Associates/African American Health Program. In this role, she is engaged in researching community health, including but not limited to remote patient monitoring and exploring mental health disparities within Ethiopian health communities.

Saron Kebekabe's multifaceted involvement demonstrates her commitment to academic excellence, leadership, and making a positive impact on community health.